Your lists can travel. Your account stays yours.

Move from a local installation to the live site, or share your library with someone you know.

1 Export

My account > Export library. Download your personal JSON file.

2 Send

Keep it as a backup, or send it to someone you trust.

3 Import

Sign in to the destination account and choose Import library.

What travels with the file

Series and episode links. Favourites. Watched marks. Saved YouTube positions and the last external links opened.

Choose who gets your history

The file includes viewing history. Share it deliberately. Passwords, administrator rights and payment access are never included.

Import merges with existing content and retains newer progress. Active access is required to import.
